Projects:

Geovea.com is a React-based project with a primary focus on providing a seamless digital experience for visitors to new places, offering the convenience of booking luxury hotels and exquisite dishes online.

I contributed to the UK-based Nike Activity Finder project, which aimed to create a personalized workout recommendation system for users based on their fitness level and preferences.

onemaube.com project is a US-based platform designed for mentoring relationships, providing mentees and mentors with the tools for online communication, including chat and meeting management, facilitating their interaction and growth.

wildDogDesign UK is a user-friendly digital platform designed to provide UK dog owners with essential information and services related to dog care, health, and legal requirements. The platform will offer resources, tools, and guidance to help ensure that dogs receive the best possible care.
